"His third straight masterwork. 5 Stars (out of 5)" – Joe Levy, Rolling Stone

"Startling. Radiates the observant calm of old masters who have seen enough life to be ready for anything--Yeats, Matisse, Sonny Rollins." – Robert Christgau, Blender Magazine

"Epic...Heartbreaking...Dynamic...Apocalyptic!...[Modern Times] is in the passionate tradition of his last two superb albums, 1997's biting, bruising Time Out Of Mind and 2001's more jubilant and eclectic "Love And Theft". Dylan looks into the heart of the modern age and tells us what he sees in a vision still commanding and bold."

– Robert Hilburn, Mojo

"The state of America, vibrant sexuality, depression-era jazz and blues, and some excellent jokes; another classic from the revitalised master" - 5 Stars (out of 5) – Uncut
